

National Equipment Register

A proven way to deter heavy equipment theft and reduce insurance costs

More than a billion dollars worth of heavy equipment is stolen every year. To combat this growing problem, Allianz Global Corporate & Specialty® has joined forces with the National Equipment Register® (NER®), a national database of heavy equipment ownership records and theft reports. This database allows police officers to identify the true owner of suspect equipment 24 hours a day, anywhere in the country – even before a theft has been discovered and reported.

Register your equipment and save on your contractors equipment deductible

As a valued Allianz Global Corporate & Specialty Inland Marine insurance policyholder, you receive a 20% discount off your NER registration fees. In addition, we offer a deductible waiver of up to $10,000 for insured equipment registered with NER that is subsequently reported stolen to law enforcement officials.

How the National Equipment Register works

The NER is a national database that helps authorities track down stolen NER-registered equipment. It contains more than 15 million ownership records and approximately 100,000 theft reports. For a small annual fee per item, owners can securely and confidentially register all of their equipment by serial and other tracking numbers. Smaller operations may register equipment online. Larger operations may download electronic inventories.

NER offers heavy equipment owners a number of advantages

- Deterrence – Owners receive 4”x 5” weather proof decals for each registered item that warns potential thieves of the heightened risk of detection and arrest while moving, storing or selling a registered machine.

- Theft reporting – As soon as a theft is detected and NER is notified, a full report is added to the database, ensuring a speedy and accurate loss report. Law enforcement authorities can access NER’s police hotline 24/7 to check for stolen equipment. More than 5,000 police agencies currently use NER.

- Recovery – NER registration facilitates owner and equipment identification and increases the chances that the machine is recovered.

- Proof of ownership – Both component and owner-applied numbers may be recorded on NER’s HELPtech® database, which helps prove ownership and provides law enforcement with an added identification tool.

- Online inventory management – Owners receive secure, password-protected and searchable access to all of their registered items.

How to put The National Equipment Register to work for you

There are two registration options:

- Lifetime Registration – The equipment remains registered until the machine is sold. The registration fee includes three decals, $32 per machine.

- Annual Fee – For owners with larger fleets, the annual fee option may be more cost effective. This allows registered owners to benefit from a secure online fleet management system, where equipment may be added and deleted as it is bought or sold. The fee scale only applies to the number of items registered, not how many are added or removed in any given year.

Maximum Number of Items	Annual Fee	Cost for Allianz Global Corporate & Specialty Policyholders
5	$75	$60
10	$100	$80
20	$180	$144
50	$400	$320
100	$700	$560
